Rules that apply for any burning

Landowners are advised that no controlled burn, firebreak burn, refuse burn or other open-air burning may be conducted within the Association area without first obtaining the necessary permits and approvals as required by the Fire Protection Association and the relevant municipal authority.

The permit application process exists to ensure compliance with the National Veld and Forest Fire Act, 1998 (Act 101 of 1998), the Rules of the Fire Protection Association, applicable municipal by-laws and recognised fire management practices.

Any person who conducts a burn without the required permit, or who fails to comply with the conditions attached to such permit, may be acting unlawfully and may incur civil and/or criminal liability for any damages, losses, injuries or suppression costs arising from such fire.

The Fire Protection Association reserves the right to object to any proposed burn where the applicant has failed to comply with the requirements of the Association, the National Veld and Forest Fire Act, 1998, or any applicable municipal by-law.
